WE ARE PROUD TO BE GROWING WITH THE GLADES

On, Monday, March 26, 1974, ground was broken for the new Everglades Federal Savings and Loan building on U.S. 441 and East Canal St. North. The beautiful colonial style, red brick two story building with white columnar posts will be about one year in the building. When it is finished it will be the biggest, most modern financial institution in the Glades. Our directors at Everglades Federal Savings and Loan are particularly proud of this new building. We have enjoyed living with and serving the people of the Glades for the past 41 years. Our new building program is just another step in our growth and yours. We have enjoyed growing with the Glades over the past four decades and we look forward to even faster growth in the decades to come.

Boating Survey Planned

Recreational boaters who used our nation's waterways in 1973, will be the subject of a Coast Guard sponsored nationwide survey, this April and May.

The survey will be conducted over the telephone to households throughout the 48 continental states in hopes of collecting information on boating accidents, the present number of boaters, and the effectiveness of boating safety education programs.

The information collected will assist the Coast Guard boating safety programs, which benefit the boater. So, if called, your cooperation during the survey will help yourself and other boaters, as well as the Coast Guard.

Gold Palm Awarded To Scout Mike Fincannon

Eagle Scout Michael Fincannon was presented the next to the highest possible scouting award last week when he received the Gold Palm during the Court of Honor held by Troop 621.

To earn the Gold Palm, a scout must have been presented 50 more merit badges than the 20 required to attain Eagle rank.

Michael was presented the award by Charles Burkett. Michael's father, Robert Fincannon, had to choose whether he wanted to accept the position during the ceremony of Michael's father or his scoutmaster and decided to act as parent. Fincannon did, however, present a total of nine merit badges and a promotional award to members of the Everglades Presbyterian troop.

Jeff Jones won the promotional award as he stepped into the rank of Second Class Boy Scout. He also won two of the merit badges, one in firemanship and the other in public health.

Three scouts, Michael Fincannon, David Teets and Paul Orsinger, won merit badges in aviation while Danny Gressinger won a merit badge in gardening and Danny Kirchman won another in basketry.

Charles Schiele was another scout who scored twice during the honor court, earning a merit badge in architecture and another in reading.

In earning his award, Michael Fincannon was also required to "demonstrate scout spirit and leadership and be an active member of his troop as well as be reviewed by the troop committee," to win the Gold Palm.

At last count, he had won a total of 51 merit badges and is still working on others.

Michael joined Troop 621 in November 1970. He has served as scoutmaster, patrol leader, assistant senior patrol leader and is currently serving as senior patrol leader.

He received the National Historical Trails Award in 1971 and in the same year was tapped for the Order of the Arrow, taking his order in January 1972 and becoming a brotherhood member in October 1972.

He has served as treasurer and secretary of the At-Seena-Hoofs Chapter of the Order of the Arrow.

In 1972, Michael received the Mile Swim Award, was promoted to Eagle Scout and earned another five merit badges to receive his Bronze Palm.

He attended the Gulfstream Council Troop Leader's Development Course at Camp Tansu Kevia in 1973 and attended summer camp there for the past three years. He will be on the camp staff this summer.

He was a patrol leader of the Apollo Patrol attending Jamboree West at Farragut State Park, Idaho in 1973. He is now making plans to be part of a contingent going to Philmont Scout Reservation in New Mexico this summer.

Michael also has his reservation to attend the World Jamboree in Norway in 1975. He has been an active member of Troop 621, showing leadership in many different ways, serving in leadership positions in seven campfires, winning a first place ribbon in each campfire.

Give Bugs The Business

Glades residents being pestered to death by roaches, fleas, ants, flies, rats, mice and other vermin can learn how to give the bugs the business at an April 17 meeting at the Glades Office Building.

Palm Beach County Home Economics Extension Agent Arlen C. Jones said the program, "Bugs, bugs and more bugs," will begin at 10:30 a.m. and will be presented by Mrs. Josephine Lee, home economics agent.

"It is no disgrace to get bugs," Mrs. Jones said, "but to keep them."

She said the program will demonstrate how home sanitation affects pest control, how homeowners can identify pests, how to get rid of them and will include a talk on insecticide safety.

Now, just a cotton pickin' minute here...

Sometimes I have to crawl all over the newspaper staff down here at the Herald to keep some of those ridiculous mistakes from going through.

Just call me Cindy the Pencil pushin' proofreader...and if you think you got problems, you don't know nothin'.

Sure, we make mistakes. You name 'em and we've done 'em; everything from typographical errors to one of those big bloopers that glare out of a headline.

But then, considering the number of words we deal with every week, some are bound to slip through. Nobody's perfect.

Heck, even the big-time pros on the coast make mistakes...like misspelling Doyle Conner's name in an editorial headline: heh, heh, heh.

We're just country folks tryin' to do a job and put out a newspaper for country folks every week...whether Belle Glade is ready for us or not.

And I believe we're getting better. Sure hope so anyway.

Darn it! There's another typo.

Centennial Of World Missions

What does one hundred years of mission work mean to a church?

That's what the Belle Glade Seventh-day Adventist church is pondering during its Centennial of World Mission.

Some folks argue that missions are not necessary, that native cultures should be preserved, says Pastor Lewis Bame of the church here.

"Missions don't feel this way," he said "and they've lived among both the natural cultures and what some people might call the imported, or people affected by Christian missions."

To prove his point, the minister tells of areas of the islands of the South Pacific where, he says, "before the coming of the missionary there was constant tribal warfare, and a man was not considered a man until he had killed someone and had the head to prove it."

In many places, the church points out, you might say that women's life began with the introduction of Christianity. For example, in these same South Pacific islands, women were of less value than a pig, and it was not uncommon for a woman to suckle a pig, as she might her own child.

Missions have changed this. In fact, visitors to the New Hebrides, New Guinea, and other islands have seen the difference in healthier, cleaner people and better villages.

"The Adventist missions in these islands have been called the 'clean missions,'" Pastor Bame says, "because of the very evident effect they have had on the lives of the people. Surely the development of healthier, happier people is far better than a culture preserved that is degrading and based on fear."

Missions don't necessarily change the colorful dress of the people. But missions do strike down superstition, unhealthy habits, ignorance.

Wherever the Seventh-day Adventist Church has been in the past century, it has established clinics, hospitals, schools.

Education, the church feels, is important to better living. If one were to take a wide map of the world and place a pin everywhere that the Adventist church has established schools, there would not be room enough for all the pins in many areas for instance the heart of Africa.

In providing medical aid through its network of 354 health-care institutions, the church cares for more than 4.5 million patients each year.

This means that it must maintain a staff of people trained in the healing arts, and the training reaches out into the isolated areas of earth, to make the nations of the countries it serves self-sufficient, able to care for their own people.

There are still parts of the world where people don't ever have a word for "love," Pastor Bame said.

"The missionary demonstrates what love is," he said, "and then points the people to serve to the God of love here. This is what makes missions worth while."

After 100 years of carrying the message of a risen Christ to lands outside North America, the Seventh-day Adventist church has work in 183 countries and carries on in 323 languages. Its world mission budget for 1974 is $65.7 million.

Where in early days of mission work the church's missionaries would spend weeks traveling by dugout canoe or on safari afoot or by oxcart in isolated regions, its representatives today try to mission plans and communicate by shortwave.

Mission lunches still serve a useful purpose in many parts of the world, as in the far reaches of the Amazon. But the living clinics of the church are becoming more numerous and lives are being saved through the spread of modern medical information.

Does the cost of such an extensive mission work create a problem for the church in homelands that must contribute heavily to its support?

Church treasurers say not. "The more mission-minded our people are," explains Pastor Bame, "the stronger their faith and their support of the total program of the church—the work here in Belle Glade and the schools and colleges of the church here as well as the work for peoples who are in need of tangible evidence of God's love in other corners of the earth."

The church's only regret as it enters its centennial of world mission is that the task assigned by Jesus so many centuries ago in old Jerusalem is not yet accomplished: the gospel to all the world.

"Only when we have finished this work," Pastor Bame adds, "will Christ return."

Coffee will be served at 9:30 a.m. and the meeting will be called to order at 10 a.m. A luncheon will be served by the women of the host church at 1 p.m.

Guest speaker for the event is Rev. John Sergy, director of the Russian language broadcast of the radio program, "Temple Time." Rev. Sergy also serves as a scholar and member of the Temple Time choir.

Included in Temple Time's regular program format is a period of Bible reading in which Russian listeners can hear the Bible read slowly and distinctly in their own language. Rev. Sergy also participates in this five-night weekly program.

A graduate of North Park College and Northwestern University, Rev. Sergy sang professionally before going into the ministry.

He has traveled in many parts of the United States in light opera and concert work. He has been soloist with some of the leading symphony orchestras and critical societies of the United States and Canada.

Among the several European countries Rev. Sergy recently visited are Soviet Russia, Poland, and Yugoslavia. He has authoritative firsthand information regarding religious conditions in these lands as well as other parts of the European continent.

Reservations for the luncheon are necessary. Call 996-0623 in Miami.

Library News

by Donna Rath, Librarian

At they say in the West, howdy fellow citizens of Belle Glade. Yes, fellow citizens, because although I have been here only three weeks, I already feel that I belong here, because everyone has been so kind.

I am enjoying working in your public library. Your taxes have been wisely used. The building is very attractive, but more important it houses a well rounded collection of materials. The non-fiction and reference sections can answer almost any question you have.

There is fiction, including mysteries and science fiction, to please every taste. If by chance you cannot find what you need, feel free to ask one of the staff for help.

The library board and I would like to sincerely thank the Elite and the Civitan Clubs for their recent donations, $28 by the first, and $100 by the second. Again, thank you. The money will be put to good use.

On Saturday there will be children's movie time at the public library. Admission is free and open to children of all ages.

Remember the library is open every day of the week except Sunday.

With Florida's interest in aluminum recycling we're increasing. Belle Glade values for 1973 were continuing on the rise.

Last-end figures for Belle Glade totaled $8,438 pounds of aluminum collected by the mobile unit, of 1,968,074 cans recycled.

Paul Hayden, Reynolds' regional recycling manager, said at the going rate of 10 cents per pound for the aluminum, the 1973 volume figures represent $8,643.80 paid by Reynolds to the area residents.

Throughout the state, 8,742,362 lbs. of aluminum, or 201,075,016 all-aluminum cans were collected for recycling. Florida volume figures represent 18 per cent of the national volume figures.

Cans are then transported to Reynolds' Recycling Centers in Tampa, Jacksonville, Miami or Pensacola, where the recycling process begins.

Elders, Deacons Installed

A solemn Service of Installation into active service was held Sunday at Everglades Presbyterian Church, officially installing newly elected Ruling Elders and Deacons.

All had been previously ordained, but were being installed for new three year terms of active service.

The climax of this ceremony of the Presbyterian Church, was the vow accepted by the congregation by the holding up of the right hand in answer to the Constitutional Question: "Do you, the members of this church, acknowledge and receive this brother as Ruling Elder (or Deacon), and do you promise to yield him all that honor, encouragement, and obedience in the Lord to which his office, according to the Word of God, entitles him?"

Installed as Ruling Elders, the highest position held by laymen in the Presbyterian Church in the United States, and equal in authority to the Ministers of the Word, were Robert Roadman of South Bay and Urban Poling of Belle Glade.

Installed as Deacons, the Scriptural office of sympathy and service, were Charles Critchfield of South Bay and Cecil McClure of Belle Glade.

The new Ruling Elders join Joseph Mellman of Pahokee, David Hotes and Robert Wood of Belle Glade, as well as the pastor, the Rev. Abe Caster, in composing the new Deacons Synod.

The newly installed Deacons join Dr. Dan Beardsley, Deen Wilson, and Mrs. Spence.

Following the installation service, the pastor, Russell Parsons, Study Course, Mrs. John Thompson, Groups, Mrs. John S.K. Smith, Youth, Miss Margaret West, music, Mrs. Marvin Gritten, worship, Gary J. Gascho, Finance, Mrs. Robert Hoyer, Arrangements, and Mrs. J. Cary Wall, Punctation chairman.

The Installation Ceremony followed the Sunday Sermon on "Simon of Cyrene" who was compelled to carry the Cross for Jesus on the road to Calvary. It was conducted by the Rev. Abe Caster, new pastor of Everglades Presbyterian Church, U.S. in the Glades area.

Life Mission Message Told

Mrs. Flidley Peto was the Mission Messenger at the Community United Methodist Church last Sunday, reminding the congregation of the coming New Life Mission, April 7-11, and expressing her concern for "new life" in the church.

Previous life speakers for the Mission have been Russell Tucker, and Mrs. Robert Dozier. Next Sunday, one of the youth, Roy (Rich) Carter, Jr., will be the speaker.

Lee Crawford, coordinator for the Mission, has named the following Task Group, which has been actively preparing for the special service: Mrs. Curtis Thompson, Jr., Attendants, the pastor, Russell Parsons, Study Course, Mrs. John Thompson, Groups, Mrs. John S.K. Smith, Youth, Miss Margaret West, music, Mrs. Marvin Gritten, worship, Gary J. Gascho, Finance, Mrs. Robert Hoyer, Arrangements, and Mrs. J. Cary Wall, Punctation chairman.

Helps Mentally And Physically Handicapped Become Useful

Glades Habilitation Center Deals In 'Hope'

DANNY SMILES
...he is useful now

In business less than five months, the Glades Branch of the Palm Beach Habilitation Center is already making a big impact on Belle Glade and the surrounding area.

The Habilitation Center provides a sheltered workshop for mentally and physically handicapped persons. Each one of its clients has an average of 2.6 disabilities.

So far the Glades Center, which is a satellite operation of the main center in Lake Worth, has 18 clients. It is getting more referred to it every week by other agencies in the Glades.

Bill Ferguson, a lifetime resident of the Glades from South Bay, is the director of the branch. His wife Margie is a registered nurse, is the production supervisor.

Mrs. Eva Reese, another lifetime Glades resident from Belle Glade, is the evaluator-counselor for the center. A fourth, professional, workshop supervisor Ed Alford, was just recently hired.

Besides a sheltered workshop the center also provides counseling for its clients. With the counseling and the training in job skills it prepares the clients for eventual work in the community.

"We deal in hope here at the center," said Ferguson. "We estimate there are 550 to 600 people in the Glades who need the services of the center."

"These are the forgotten people of the Glades. They are forgotten by the community. They are forgotten by the never-seen, the people you never hear about. Many of them are so disabled they have no hope of being employed by anybody."

"At least 80 per cent of them are on welfare of one kind or another," he said. "If our program is successful we can make these people self-sufficient within their own community."

"In our sheltered workshop we try to create as close a competitive atmosphere as possible without it actually being competitive. Our goal is to make every one of our clients employable outside of the center."

As production supervisor Mrs.

CLIENTS ARE GIVEN JOBS IN SHELTERED WORKSHOP SITUATION
...they are trained in actual work situations so they can work on outside one day

Ferguson plays a vital role in the center's program.

"I carry out the program set up by the counselor," said Mrs. Ferguson. "I am also responsible for procuring contracts and the quality control of those contracts once they are in the building. I make time and cost studies on every job."

"We try to make our sheltered workshop as close to an industrial setting as possible," she said.

The nearest project embarked upon by the center is the making of tank top-style popular style of shirt. It hopes to not only train clients as seamstresses, but also to make some money for the center on the sale of the shirts.

The money made on the sheltered workshop projects is thrown into the general fund to help run the center. The center is hoping to open a resale store on Avenue A in the old Fabric Center building the first week in April. Proceeds from this will also go towards the center's expenses.

Other than those two methods of generating revenue, the center must depend on government grants and community support for its survival. It was opened on a $30,000 grant from the state of Florida which just happened to be left over from another project.

The main center's director, Bob Benedict, was called and told the money would have to be returned to the general fund unless it was spent. Benedict made a special trip to Tallahassee to apply for the funds and they were awarded.

Unlike other states Florida has no planned program for helping the mentally and physically handicapped. Programs are on a catch as catch can basis.

For instance, the Belle Glade center has no other unit like it within 45 miles to the east, 70 miles to the south, 70 miles to the west and 160 miles to the north. That is a tremendously large area for one center with only four people to service.

As the evaluator-counselor for the center, Mrs. Reese is the first person to talk with prospective clients at length. She tests them to see what their abilities are and what special training they will need while at the center.

"After the client gets here, however, my contact doesn't stop with them," said Mrs. Reese. "None of them have ever worked before, so they run into problems with their work supervisor and other clients."

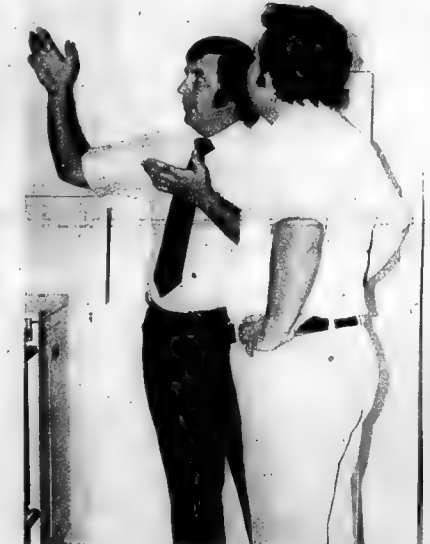

"It is my job to straighten out these problems. I also talk to them about money problems, personal problems and anything which might bother them."

Right now the center is looking for local jobs it can take into the center for its clients to work on.

"We need simple jobs for our sheltered workshop," said Ferguson. "I would be interested in talking with any local business which thinks it might have some work we can handle."

GCI Heavyweight Fighting In Denver

Florida-Puerto Rico amateur heavyweight boxing champion Clifford Johnson, a Glades Correctional Institution inmate, is vying for the national heavyweight title in Denver this week.

Johnson, a true heavyweight who weighs in at 277 pounds, won his regional title in the Golden Gloves Tournament in Miami two weeks ago with a powerful right handed punch.

His knockout of Daytona Beach fighter Joe Day ended his fourth fight. Three of those were fought in the regional tournament and he has won every fight so far, two with K.O.

Johnson is 34 years old and GCI boxing coach Mike Prader said the powerfully built Johnson, "comes right at you." He recalled an instance when Johnson's sparring partner, team trainer Herb Siler, landed two solid punches on Johnson's face and Johnson shook his head like a bear and kept on coming.

Siler is an ex-professional fighter who said he has been in the ring with Sonny Liston, Muhammad Ali and Ernie Terrell. Siler said he fought professionally from 1960 to 1968.

While Johnson was the regional open championship in his weight class, he was joined by two other GCI team members who picked off two novice championships in Miami.

Robert Wiggins, a 145 pounder won the welterweight championship in the novice class. Wiggins has won all four of his bouts with knockouts, three in the first round and one in the second round.

Terry Reader, 18, a 155 pound light middle weight, won his divisional championship after compiling a total of six wins out of nine fights.

Local Boy Scouts Go Camping

Belle Glade Boy Scouts and their families worked in a number of areas of advancement last weekend when Troop 821 held its camping trip Friday through Sunday at Tappan Crossing in Okeechobee Shrub in Collier County.

The scouts took part in such activities as camping, hiking, cooking, emergency preparedness and first aid skills awards and merit badges. Among those attending were Michael Fitzcanon, Paul Orsini, Lee Lane and Danny Kirkman of the Leadership Corps. From Gator Patrol were Charles Schiele, Jim Tevis, Jason Shelton and Jeff Jones. From the Scouts were Mark O'Connell, Barry Wilson, Terry Kirkman, Ed Ballard,

Adult Class Registration Underway For 3rd Term

Registration for Glades Central Adult and Community School courses is now underway for the third term, running April 8 through time 23, and will end April 11. New credit students, seeking school diplomas through the adult courses are required to report to the Glades Central Annex at 7 p.m. April 8 for orientation according to coordinator Lee Young.

One of the newer courses is one on air-conditioning and refrigeration, to begin at 7 p.m. April 1. Being taught by Gerald Trammell, it will meet Monday and Wednesday nights.

Karate classes are being held for P.O. West women and men each Saturday in the Glades Central gym and will also be available Tuesday and Thursday nights under the community school program.

Mini-partners for elementary age children are open under the direction of certified instructors each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at Belle Glade Elementary, Lake Shore Junior High and Cove Elementary.

The Lake Shore Gym is open Monday through Friday nights and on Sunday afternoons for recreational purposes.

Among the other general interest courses being offered are sewing, art, business courses, vocational courses such as diesel mechanics and welding.

Other offerings include Spanish and English as second languages, biological sewing and the U.S. test in Spanish. Glades residents wishing further information on either Adult or Community School courses can call 986-9214.

Money!

Money!

Money matters will be the subject of discussion at a special three-day workshop on will trusts and insurance beginning this week at the Palm Beach Junior College Glades Center.

Executive Dean Cecil Conley said the nine-hour workshop, scheduled for 7-10 p.m. tonight, April 4 and April 11 will be taught by attorneys James Gane and Frank Massey. The fee will be $9 for the course and will be non-credit. Conley said students may register the first night of class, which will be in Room 4 at the Belle Glade National Guard Armory.

Payments Limited

Sugar League Okays Act

A proposal to extend the U.S. Sugar Act five years but limit sugar payments to no more than $8,400 per firm per year has been endorsed by the Florida Sugar Cane League.

League Vice President and General Manager Nelson Fairbanks said members of the league, which includes all of the seven mills in Florida, agrees with the proposal to limit conditional payments.

"We support the proposal," Fairbanks said. "Actually, we recommended the payments be reduced because we want to get more of our income from the market place than from government payments."

Under the altered Sugar Act, mills producing more than 4,000 tons would receive no payments while those producing under 4,000 tons would receive amount up to the maximum of $8,400.

Because the conditional payments, which have amounted to millions of dollars in past years for the larger producers, would be so drastically reduced, domestic growers would no longer pay the 50 cents per 100 pounds production tax.

The conditional payment ceiling is part of a package of changes being recommended before a House sub-committee by the three-year endorsed by the industry is the five year life of the bill instead of the three years endorsed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"We want to see the new sugar act to operate as long as possible," Fairbanks said. "In this way, we can plan for the future."

To pay for the conditional payments which would still be made to the small growers, and to pay for the act's administration, sugar importers would still be required to pay the 50 cents per hundred pounds tax.

One change the Florida sugar producers didn't endorse in the proposed act is the quota being allowed mainland sugar cane grown in Florida and Louisiana.

The proposal would guarantee the two states a quota of 1.6 million tons and Fairbanks said the two states could produce 1.8 million tons a year by the time the act expires.

The act would guarantee a total of 6,250 million tons for domestic production of sugar.

Cricket Anyone?

It was a bit of a sticky wicket when the Jamaican workers at the Pelican Lake Labor Camp in Pahokee took up their bats and pads for a farewell cricket match. Our reporter-photographer, not knowing how to play, couldn't tell us the score. But a great time was had by all as the men celebrated the end of the cane cutting season and their imminent return to their homeland.

Boating Course Set

Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 55, the newly formed Glades unit, will present a condensed three-lesson course on boating April 6, 18 and 22.

Flotilla Public Information Officer Pamy Hughes said the lesson is designed for boaters who don't have the time for the full eight-lesson course and the classes meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Glades Central High School library.

"This course," she said, "can be of great value to those unable to complete the eight hour course and certificates of completion will be awarded by the flotilla commander on completion of the course."

Anyone for a game of Cricket?
If you don't know how to play, don't feel bad cuz neither can I, but at least I've seen the game played.

Last Friday Dean and I were invited by Bill Hunter (Public Relations man for Fla. Sugar Cane League) to watch some guys play cricket. Well, the guys were Jamaicans who had just finished cutting the sugar cane around here and were taking a few days off before they left to go somewhere else.

Cricket, Great Britain's answer to baseball, seems to be very popular among the Jamaicans. There were about a hundred spectators out there watching the guys and occasionally hollering catcalls.

Me, I just stood there and watched the game and tried to listen to one of the supervisors explain how the game is played. Scatterbrained as I usually am it didn't help very much since the only thing I could determine was that the batter tried to hit or defend himself from the ball with a large paddle, like the ones the teachers used on us in grade school.

I did find out a few things with an encyclopedia's help and from what I could muster from watching the men play such as the pitcher is not a pitcher but a bowler, and he bowls the ball instead of pitching. There are two batters instead of one and runs are determined when one of the batters hits the ball far enough that he and the others batter at the opposite end of the "bowling crease" can switch sides, or he hits it over a boundary he scores four runs or six runs, depending on how it goes over.

The ball by the way has a core of cork built up with string and cased with polished red leather and is very hard. I saw some of the guys rubbing their hands and knees after colliding with the ball.

Cricket is not as strenuous as a game of baseball and players can play it for hours without getting very tired. We... they always say don't knock it till you've tried it, but I still think I'd like the game of softball instead.

Here's a bit of news for you golfers. J. Paul Jones has joined the ranks of the great ones who can boast they have made a hole-in-one out on the golf course. His lucky number must be sixteen because he did it on the sixteenth hole March 16.

"It wasn't a cheap shot either," he grinned. He used a three iron for the ball and drove it 180 yards. That's all for now see ya next week.

Optimismo y Confianza De Do Si Mismo

Es nuestro privilegio traer a continuación el escrito del Rev. Padre Paul Saghy, como dijimos la semana pasada, esperamos que pueda ayudar a mirar a la vida en forma mas optimista, y esperamos que cada lector se beneficie de la profundidad del mismo. Agradecemos al Padre Saghy su maravillosa cooperación con nuestra columna latina.

Suero que un señor viajaba con su hijo en un tren rápido de Viena a Budapest. El niño solazado, lloranado, parecía que nunca terminaría el sollozo, los demás viajeros se sentían molestos, por aquí por allá empezaron hacer muecas de disgusto, y sus se oían palabras de protesta... Por fin una dama protestó en palabras hirientes y ofensivas, y le dice al distinguido caballero, Sr. Por favor baje callar este niño, para poder descansar. Queda a su madre cuando llega a casa con esos lloros de lágrimas. Al día siguiente, el niño, el pobre hombre también prorrumpió en lágrimas. Oh con que gusto Heredia a casa de la madre, contestó, si no tuviera viajando con nosotros, amortajado en el último coche, la llevaría a enterrar a su tierra natal, el niño llora por su madre, por el amor de la madre que, por el mundo entero, le pide para siempre. Las caras cambiaron. Eran simples palabras que suficientemente para despertar en todos la simpatía el dolor y la compasión para los seres dolientes. Todo el mundo trato sacar del fondo de su memoria el recuerdo de su madre, de su hijo, de su esposa, de sus penas, de sus dolores, podíamos proyectar una luz en sus pasos, y el mundo a su camino.

Goete decía: No habría tanta pena y oscuridad en el mundo, si no usáramos la fuerza de nuestra fantasía, en recordación, las furias y venganzas de nuestro pasado. Se oye decir frecuentemente que, el mal es mucho mayor, de mas duración que el bien, ¿sabes porque? Porque no podemos disfrutar con animo sereno y tranquilo, los momentos de alegría y felicidad que, la vida nos proporciona diariamente. Eos momentos deberían ser fuente de felicidad y fuerza para sobrelevar los momentos o tiempos tristes de la vida. La causa principal de la desdicha es que cada uno esta conforme con su propia suerte. La dicha, la alegría, las delicias, y la felicidad nos vienen a cuenta propia y a veces el nos damos cuenta no queremos ver que existen, y se pierden como las perlas de una cadena rota. Mucha gente no saben aprovechar las buenas oportunidades, ni el quiere extender la mano cuando se les ofrece. Nos pasa como el hombre con los refresco; pide toda clase de bebidas azucaradas, y bien lo sabemos que, la sed se puede mitigar solo con un buen vaso de agua fría y cristalina. El secreto de la felicidad consiste en no exigir, ni esperar mucho de la vida a nadie se ha dado lo que pensábamos, y sonamos en nuestra juventud. El hombre puede leer de cuando en cuando alegría y felicidad en el mundo entero, pero sin sombra como tampoco hay felicidad sin risa.

Tolstoy, en su biografía dice: cuando joven estaba sucio de ver todo, disfrutar de todo sentir en mi mente todo, en una palabra quería poseer el mundo entero. El hombre lucha como un aguil con las alas rotas, cuando esta tempestad de mi interior cogió su nivel me di cuenta que, la vida tranquila de mi pueblo, la posibilidad de hacer el bien a quien necesitara, lo que por cierto es muy fácil de hacer, el trabajo útil, los árboles con sus flores, los libros, la música, el amor a un ser afines a mi, he ahí el secreto de la felicidad.

El arte de la vida consiste en abrir el corazón a la mas humana alegría y además, en vivir con resignación los momentos de tristeza y la pena de nuestro corazón para la felicidad y dejar que entre, porque el corazón humano es como esos rayos de felicidad como son las plantas y los árboles a los rayos del sol. Con el pensamiento hay que buscar siempre la parte brillante de la vida y siempre buscar la claridad y el sol de la vida. Fue experiencia sabemos que la alegría y la felicidad pueden dejar bellas tan indelebles en el corazón, como el sufrimiento o el dolor del pasado, pueden dominar las horas amargas de la vida, como pueden oscurecer.

Cuando Milton quedo ciego en vez de perder su buen humor se lo aumento como el mismo lo dijo. El sufrimiento me hizo amigo de la risa y alegría. Tesis mas hermosa que no deo grandes herencias, ni fortuna, lo unico que deo su retrato con la sonrisa en sus labios siempre. En su vida ha tenido seis grandes operaciones para perder su buen humor, a pesar de todo eso, nunca se quejo o que haya dicho sea desdichado. Al contrario siempre nos habla que los años mas felices de su vida los paso en el hospital, tanta quietud y allí llego a ver que su cruz no era tan pesada como la de los demás cuando murio.

Cuando Taylor el famoso escritor ingles fue saqueado por los bandidos, escribió estas palabras en su diario. Me han robado todo, lo unico que me han dejado es la fe, digo todo, no me han robado ni mujer, tampoco el buen corazón de mis amigos, no han podido robarme mi buen humor, ni mi apetito, ni mi conciencia que, es como un cobertor de seda que cubre todo. No han llevado el banquito debajo de mi nogal, donde solia sentarme, tampoco llevaron el banco de la Iglesia donde solia sentarme para la palabra de Dios, por ende no han podido robar a mi fiel amigo y Creador a mi Dios. Cuando miro en sus ojos no siento el peso de sus manos. He conocido un maestro de escuela, por cierto de gran sabiduría y de excepcional preparación, muy capacitado para el trabajo, pero mala suerte como cuando decio lo han enterrado vivo en un pueblo perdido, entre las montañas. Pasen ustedes tiempo para que, o protestar por el desprecio que le han hecho. No lo hizo. El decía, me he propuesto de reconciliarme con mi mala suerte, voy a trabajar con el mismo entusiasmo y letré de hacer mi vida útil e agradable para los demás aquí también. Trabajo de la mañana hasta la noche en la escuela y así mi jardín.

El pasado domingo, la congregación hispana de la Iglesia Metodista recibió un grupo de visitantes de la Iglesia Metodista de Boca Raton.

El grupo de jóvenes de esta Iglesia que nos visito, participo de un programa especial en el cual se presento una película, un recuento de lo que la Iglesia Metodista en la Florida en general ha hecho por ayudar a los latinos.

Para concluir el programa, el grupo anglo y el hispano se unieron en el culto dominical nocturno y el grupo hispano que aparece en esta foto, los trajo dos himnos en español e himnos que fueron inspirados y gusto para todos.

En fin, el privilegio de Dios poder servir de inspiración a otros grupos, y a la vez llevar el mensaje de que los latinos estamos haciendo nuestra parte constructiva en la sociedad en la que nos desenvolvemos.

descanso por la noche para tener fuerza para el día siguiente y cansarse de nuevo para que la noche me coja otra vez cansado y me riñe al sueño. Así obteniendo ha logrado muchas mas que si hubiera sacado cartas de juego de su mala suerte. En fin y al cabo las cartas hubieran parado de todos modos en el cesto de la basura. No permitamos que la depresión tome fuerza en uno una cuando aparentemente todo conspira en su contra.

"Eternal vigilance is the Price of Liberty"
★★★★ Wendell Phillips 1852 ★★★★★

In a world where order depends heavily on regulation, we have learned to rely on signs for direction. Innumerable, however, the signs seem to point in completely opposite ways.

How often we have heard a political candidate point out for us his way, all the while asserting to us it is the only way. His opponent, meanwhile, diligently attempts to convince us that someone has in the opposite direction. The most confusing factor is that they may both be right in some degree. Before we can make a choice, we must consider the signs and utilize them in reaching our decision.

The decision we make when we cast our vote is vital to our future. Let us examine the issues with great care. Exercise our best judgment. And most important of all, let's be sure we follow an sign without fail-the sign that says "VOTE."

Tax Aids

This is the fourth in a series of five articles on 1973 Federal income tax returns prepared as a public service by the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Traditionally the policy has been that a taxpayer can deduct from his income the costs incurred in obtaining that income. This is, reflected in many varied deductions for exemptions permitted on tax returns.

The ordinary and necessary costs of business travel and entertainment are deductible, for example, if one is not reimbursed for these by an employer. All you have to be able to prove to Uncle Sam in that the expenses were directly related to the earning of income.

One expense connected with the earning of income that cannot be deducted is the cost of deducting from work, except in the case of a worker who must carry heavy or bulky tools or materials to and from the job, in which case he might be able to deduct car costs.

Even here, though, the tax costs are not deductible if the individual would use his car anyhow, even if he didn't have a load to carry.

A working taxpayer who incurs expenses for the care of young children in order to be able to go to work can in some cases deduct those costs.

Under certain conditions, if one has moved his place of residence because of a change in his place of work the costs of making the move are deductible.

Professional fees paid to lawyers, brokers or CPAs for guidance or assistance in such fields as investments and taxes can be deducted, along with the cost of a safety deposit box for the protection of securities, as well as subscriptions to investment advice services, financial publications, etc. All are considered as having contributed to obtaining income or managing income-producing property.

If a taxpayer owns income-producing property - a second house, for example - he can deduct the costs of maintaining and renting it out, along with payments for interest and taxes, which are deductible in any case. If the taxpayer lives in the second house part of the year, however, expenses other than interest and taxes may be deductible only up to the amount of income the property produces.

Even gamblers who declare their gambling winnings on their returns are permitted to deduct the costs of earning those incomes. They can deduct their losses, up to the amount they have won.

Gospel Concert Scheduled

THE SINGING RAMBOS WILL BE FEATURED
...at the Church of God's Fifth Annual Concert.

The Parson Pontificates

Do you really want to know what is wrong with the world today? You are about to hear! Too many people are confessing someone else's sins, that's what! The Editor tells us what is wrong with the Postmaster, the Preacher tells the Congregation its sins, Parents lambaste the Teenagers, the Youth reveal the wickedness of all People-Over-Thirty, the President blames the Congress, and everybody confesses the president's sins. It's lots of fun that way. The only problem is, nobody ever gets saved confessing another person's sins. (See Ezekiel 18: 2-4 in The Living Bible).

The Fifth Annual Gospel Concert sponsored by the Belle Glade Church of God Preachers of Men will feature the Singing Rambos again as well as Windy Johnson and the Messengers. The concert, scheduled to take place from 8 to 11 p.m. April 13 at the Glades Central High School Auditorium, is open to the public as it has been in past years.

A church spokesman said tickets, priced at $3 for adults in advance and $3.50 at the door, and a dollar for children over 6 (children under 6 have free admission) are available at Brown's Bible Book Store or by calling 996-9853.

He said the Singing Rambos are being brought back by popular demand and have been here several times in the past.

The Singing Rambos consist of the Rambo family, Buck and Dotie and their 21-year old daughter, Reba Rambo.

Buck Rambo is manager of the group as well as president of Rambo Music, Inc. and the Rambo Evangelistic Association.

"For every major gospel singing group on the road," he said recently, "there are at least a thousand minor groups, struggling to make it in singing."

"The main problem most small time groups have," he said, "is that they pick out a major group they especially like and try to copy that group as closely as possible."

"To be first in any business means to be original but originally without the spirit of God... would be putting the cart before the horse."

Dottie Rambo, billed as America's number one gospel songwriter, prepares most of the music for the group although she doesn't read or write music.

"I suppose one reason that God has so abundantly blessed me with my songs is because I have always been so eager to share what He gives me with others," Mrs. Rambo said.

"Most of my songs come from actual experiences," she said, "...and when I have written a new song, I can't wait to sing it for someone and tell them the circumstances surrounding the song."

Easter Film Set

A 30 minute LENT EASTER color film titled "Dawn of Victory" will be shown at St. Peter's Lutheran Church on Wednesday, April 3, at 7:30 p.m. It was announced by Chaplain Arthur M. Seane, interim pastor of the congregation. Everyone is invited, there is no charge.

The film is a bold, vivid portrayal of the Resurrection message in its fullest sense. Beginning with Jesus' painful steps along the Via Dolorosa, viewers witness the events of the crucifixion, Easter Sunday, and Jesus' later appearances.

Emblem Of Love

A symbol of gentleness and innocence the lamb is non aggressive, helpless against attack, for it is not fleet of foot, nor can it protect itself. It does not destroy its own kind or any other animal for food. Thus we find the Bible referring to the time when the lion, a ferocious beast, shall lie down with the lamb and when men shall no longer study war—in other words, when greed and the strife that often accompanies greed shall have disappeared from the earth.

The main objective of the Church is to bring about a situation where the motivating power on this earth is love, replacing greed, selfishness and strife. It cannot be denied but that the churches have long striven and can still make greater strides toward that goal. Their need is for more and more members dedicated to its program. When once dedicated to this cause the member will discover through the practice of what his church teaches that love is the most essential thing in life, that its power can and will conquer all negative forces.
